The following amusing item is taken from the Waverly Magazine:

We witnessed a very amusing scene on one of our suburban streets recently. A fashionable young lady, got up in the highest style of the milliner's art, and arrayed in all the glory of a five-dollar-a-yard silk, a twenty dollar bonnet, and a three hundred dollar shawl, was majestically sweeping along in the direction of the Fair ground, while just behind a small boy was leading a pet coon. A countryman, in brown, slouched hat, and linsey woolsey warmus, came along followed by a "yaller" dog, whose nose was scarred diagonally, transversely and laterally, with the scars of many a hotly-contested battle with members of the racoon family. "Tige" no sooner saw the ring-tailed representative of his ancient enemy, than he made a frantic dive for him, accompanied by a furious bark. Cooney apprehending the situation at a glance, bolted incontinently, and sought a sanctuary beneath the ample circumference of the lady's crinoline. The young lady screamed, while the dog made rapid circles, sniffing the air, and evidently bewildered to know what had become of the coon. The situation of the young lady was critical and embarrassing. She was afraid to move for fear the coon would bite, and the coon declined to leave his retreat until the dog had retired. Finally the dog was stoned off, the boy dragged the coon from his hiding place, and the young lady went her way, with a lively consciousness of having experienced a new sensation. As for the coon, he was instantly killed. He had seen too much to live.

WHEN GROG MAY BE TAKEN MEDICINALLY.—Grog may be taken medicinally;

Invariably after salmon.

When there is any washing being done at home.

When the painters are in the house.

When a person feels faint, and doesn't know what is the matter with him.

When a friend turns up after an absence of several years, or when you are parting with a friend whom you do not expect to see for several years.

When a person has the toothache.

When a person has lost at cards, or when a person has come into a large property.

When a person has met with a great misfortune, or made a tremendous bargain.

When a person is riding outside a stagecoach, or is on a sea voyage, or goes out between the acts of a five-act tragedy, or before ascending in a balloon, or after coming off the jury of a coroner's inquest, or when you are sitting up for your wife, or when a friend drops in to smoke a cigar; and, in fact, upon all suitable occasions of sadness or merriment, when a person feels rather low, or feels in very high spirits.

RULES FOR COURTSHIP, BY A BILLIARDIST OF UNCOMMON ASSURANCE.—Courtship is a pleasant fancy game, frequently played between the opposite sexes at private tables, and much liked by the ladies. You commence with a "miss," first "taking your cue" from your fair challenger's eyes. Be careful not to "force" too much; it is better to "follow." Never struggle for the "lead;" always yield it to the lady. If she keeps you at arm's length, use the "bridge of sighs." Explain to her the delicate maneuvers of the game—especially the advantages of the "kiss," which you can illustrate by concussing the "two rods." Observe how she "banks," and where—this is important. Tell her what is meant by "hugging the cushion," and hint modestly at the kind of cushion you like to hug. If she "scratches" don't mind it, but play for "safety," or if you have a chance, "run;" but when you have a "favorable opening," make a bold offer "at every hazard." Should you have "bad luck," try again; you may succeed in the "long run." Never think of "pocketing a ball" in your own head if disappointed. The maxim holds good in courtship as in billiards, that it is madness to make a "shot" by which you are sure to "hole yourself." Much depends upon "coaxing" in this pastime.

MISSISSIPPI RIVER SPORT.—A letter from Yazoo City to the Memphis Post says: "At 5 P. M., I was aboard the little sternwheel packet Emma, No. 2, for Yazoo City. We cast off our lines a few minutes after the Hope, a rival packet, and it soon leaked out that we were to have a race with her. We kept our relative position in the rear for about ten miles. On entering Old river—former bed of the Mississippi—we shot ahead; carrying 110 pounds of steam. We kept ahead about ten miles, when our rival steamed alongside, amid a perfect storm of huzzas from both boats. Our boat then rounded to and struck the Hope a thundering lick amidships, that jarred every bolt and timber in her, and sent port chimney careening on the hurricane deck. I expected every moment to see one or both boats blown to 'Davy Jones' locker,' but our boat only stopped a few moments to ascertain the damage done to her adversary and steamed away."

SHORT DAYS.—We complain of the shortness of the days at the winter solstice, but in most of the great capitals of Europe the hours of daylight are more contracted than with us. At St. Petersburg, for instance—a city of more than 500,000 population and in latitude 60—the sun rises at present at quarter past nine and sets at a quarter before three. At Archangel, a city of 25,000 population, in latitude 64, the day lasts from only twenty-four minutes past ten, to twenty-four minutes before two. On the twenty-first of December, clock time and solar time were nearly the same—the sun being on the meridian at the hour of twelve. On the eleventh of February they will be fifteen minutes apart. This variation makes the placing of a permanently correct noon mark an impossibility.

MODESTY OF THE AMERICAN PAPERS.—An American journal gives the following version of a late paragraph, by no means unusual of its kind, from the London Court Journal: "Her Royal Highness, the Princess of Wales, is ——; and the Princess Helen also is ——. In the first case, 'early in the ensuing year,' and in the latter 'in April,' are the specified occasions. The Princess Clotilde was to have —— about two weeks before Christmas."

The Providence, R. I. Journal of Dec. 27th, says that Mrs. John H. Crane, of California, died on the steamboat train Sunday morning, just as it reached the Kingston station. Mrs. C. was going with her husband to visit his home in Dartmouth, Mass. She was a very young bride, being only fifteen, and was prostrated by the long sea voyage from California.

Salt Lake City, November 5, 1866.

The Great Silver Mines of Nevada.

We find on our table an interesting pamphlet entitled "A review of the Mining, Agricultural and Commercial interests of the Pacific States, for the year 1866," for which we are indebted to the publishers, Messrs. H. H. Bancroft & Co., of San Francisco.

It is a compendium of valuable statistical and other information, compiled from the columns of the Mercantile Gazette, and sets forth in a clear and concise manner the resources of the Pacific Coast, and the progress made from year to year in industrial pursuits. Among the rest there is an elaborate review of the various kinds of mining, which may be briefly summed up, in the words of the reviewer: "Never before did the mining districts in the interior of the State present such a wide-spread scene of busy industry and general success as at present. From one end of the great mineral belt to the other we have the most cheering intelligence, the journals of that region abounding in accounts of immense yields, steady pay and big strikes."

This has not been the prevalent opinion of persons at a distance. While San Francisco has grown in importance and wealth, the continuous plaints of interior journals that she was prospering at the expense of the mining and agricultural regions, led us to believe that outside of the city limits the State was retrograding. Yet the compiler presents an array of statistics which, while they almost make the head swim, sustain most unmistakably the statement of general prosperity. Regretting that we have only space for a few of the interesting facts set forth, we present some of the aggregates of the statistics.

Passing by the great gold quartz mines of California, we extract some of the figures of well known silver mines of Nevada. On the Comstock lode there are thirty-five different locations. The total yield during the past five years has been $60,000,000 in round numbers. During the year 1866, the gross product of these claims has been $14,500,000; aggregate assessments, $1,242,980; dividends distributed, $1,854,000.

We quote the statistics of some of the most prominent claims on this famed lode:

GOULD & CURRY.

"The gross yield of this mine since it was first opened, has been about $13,669,150; total dividends declared, $3,736,800. During the past year 56,162 tons of ore have produced $1,600,000, (an average of $28 50 per ton) and of this sum $252,000 have been distributed among the stockholders, equal to $210 per foot."

THE SAVAGE.

"From April, 1863, to July, 1866, there have been extracted 110,000 tons of ore, yielding $4,250,000, of which $880,000 were disbursed as dividends. Since July the company's receipts have been $1,100,000, the product of 21,000 tons of ore (an average of about $40 per ton) and dividends amounting to $360,000 declared."

YELLOW JACKET.

"The yield during the year has been $2,300,000, from 80,000 tons of ore, (an average of a little over $28 per ton) and since July last dividends to the amount of $390,000 have been declared."

THE OPHIR.

"This celebrated mine, once regarded as the leading silver mine in the world, during the past two years, from some cause, has so diminished in value as to have become almost a burthen to the stockholders. From 1860 to 1866, $7,500,000 were taken from this mine, and nearly $1,500,000, equivalent to $1,004 per foot paid in dividends out of the net earnings. During the year assessments amounting to $132 per foot have been levied. The company during the year just closed have reduced 11,163 tons of ore, yielding $450,000, an average of about $40 per ton."

THE IMPERIAL.

"From June, 1865, to the close of last year yielded an aggregate of upwards of $1,500,000 and earned in dividends $376,000, from 55,000 tons of ore, an average yield of about $27 per ton."

It will thus be seen that while the average richness of the ore of the great Comstock lode has not been very great, and notwithstanding the notorious fact that millions have been squandered by incompetent superintendents and wasted through defective machinery and processes, immense sums have been realized. We have just dipped into the statistics of this interesting pamphlet and hope to return to it again at an early day.

SALT LAKE "VEDETTE."—We have omitted to notice, heretofore, that this able journal, published in Great Salt Lake City, commenced a new volume on the 12th of January. The present head of the publishing firm, P. L. Shoaff, formerly of Stockton, is a practical printer, of experience in the profession, and is, we are confident, capable of making the VEDETTE a journal worthy the cause it upholds in the vast country wherein it is established. At this distance, we are unable to judge accurately the difficulties of the position it occupies; but we may venture to hope that, inasmuch as Mormon and Gentile must dwell in peace together under the laws of the country, it should be the constant aim of those whose duty it is to instruct and guide both sects to recognize that fact, and govern themselves accordingly. The VEDETTE is a welcome exchange, and most cordially do we wish it continued success.—Alta Californian.

AN AMERICAN VESSEL SEIZED BY THE FRENCH.—It is reported that the schooner Eustice, Captain Furlong, of San Francisco, has been seized at Acapulco by the French, and was, at last accounts, lying under the guns of one of their frigates in that port. The vessel took some treasure from one of the ports in the southern part of this State, to Acapulco, to be placed on board the downward bound steamship for Panama, and it is understood that it was on this account that she was detained by the French. It is reported that the French Captain told the Captain of the schooner that if he attempted to make sail on his vessel he would "blow her out of water."—Alta California, February 1st.

Washington, February 8.

In the House, Raymond introduced a bill to prohibit the transportation of criminals from foreign countries to the United States, and prescribing penalties therefor. Referred.

On motion of Spalding, the Secretary of War was directed to report what Railroad Companies in the rebellious States had purchased rolling stock or other property, of the United States Government, the amount paid thereon and the amount remaining unpaid, and the nature of the securities held therefor, etc.

A bill was introduced for the establishment of gold and silver assay offices at Denver, Colorado, Charlotte, N. C., and Dalonga, Ga.

The debate on Stevens' military reconstruction bill was then resumed.

Shanklin opposed the bill as more dangerous to civil rights than any measure ever presented, and characterized it as an enormous outrage on the people.

Thayer approved the bill, and said that when enforced it would be followed by terms of reconstruction which would recognize the perfect equal rights of all citizens, and secure uniform liberty, happiness and prosperity throughout the country.

Hotchiss advocated placing the Southern States under military control, but thought the law already covered that matter, had not the President, by his construction, defeated the intention of the law.

Griswold and Raymond, of N. Y., made powerful speeches against the bill. Garfield supported it.

The House, by a vote of 65 against 89, refused to second the demand for the previous question.

The prominent tobacconists of the country have appointed a committee to wait on the Committee of Ways and Means and present several suggestions agreed upon for the promotion of the trade's interests.

The President has approved the bill providing that alcohol made or manufactured from distilled spirits upon which the tax imposed by law has been paid, and burning fluid made or manufactured from alcohol, or spirits of turpentine, or camphene, upon which the tax imposed by law has been paid, shall be exempted from tax.

In the Senate, a resolution was offered withdrawing the publication of the debates from the Globe and giving it to the Chronicle; but it appearing that the contract with the Globe cannot be abrogated without two years notice, the resolution was tabled.

Wade called up the bill to admit Nebraska, and, without debate, it passed over the veto—yeas, 31; nays, 9. The nays were were Buckalew, Davis, Doolittle, Foster, Hendricks, Morgan, Norton, Patterson and Saulsbury.

Grimes called up the bill to establish an iron clad depot at League Island, but no action was taken.

The Senate then went into Executive session.

Albany, N. Y., February 8.

A bill was to-day introduced in the Senate, allowing an underground railway to be constructed in New York City.

Both branches of the Legislature requested the Congressional delegation to advocate aid to the Northern Pacific Railroad.

Washington, February 9.

The vote in the House last night, refusing to second the previous question on the Military Government bill, was by tellers, the Democrats voting solidly against it with sufficient support from the Republican ranks to make a negative of 98, against an affirmative vote of 61.

St. Catharines, C. W., February 9.

A heavy land slide occurred on the Welland Canal, at Deep Cut. The bank for several hundred feet gave way, partly filling the canal. Superintendent Woodruff, after a careful examination, thinks that navigation will not be suspended.

Topeka, Kansas, February 8.

Hon. J. P. Usher, late Treasurer and Attorney of the Pacific Railroad, addressed a letter to the Legislature, protesting against the State laws taxing the road, and declaring that the company will resist the taxation before the courts if persisted in. He also protests against any attempt to regulate any freight or passage as unwise State policy.

New Orleans, February 8.

Minister Campbell pronounces as unqualifiedly false the reports recently circulated of a disagreement between General Sherman and himself.

Baltimore, February 9.

Washington, February 9.

The Senate yesterday confirmed the following nominations: Thos. J. McKinney, of Iowa, as Superintendent of Indian Affairs in Washington Territory; Jos. Wentworth, of Missouri, as Consul at Moscow; Matthewson T. Patrick, of Nebraska, as Agent of the upper Platte Indians, and Lafayette Carter, of Idaho, as Surveyor General of Idaho.

Washington, February 8.

Geo. Peabody addressed a letter to Robt. C. Winthrop, Hamilton Fish, Bishop McIlvaine, General Grant, and others, tendering as a gift the sum of one million dollars to be held in trust, and the interest thereof applied for the promotion of the intellectual, moral and industrial education among the young of the more destitute portions of the Southwestern States, without other distinction than their needs and opportunities of usefulness; he also gives permission to use from the principal within the next two years not exceeding forty per cent. He also gives Planters' Bank bonds, of the State of Mississippi, amounting with interest to $110,000, on which no interest has been paid since 1840, but the validity of which has never been questioned. The letter is long, benevolent and patriotic.

St. Louis, February 9.

A current bill to amend the State Constitution by striking out that portion referring to fortifications, lawyers, etc., was tabled in the House yesterday.

New York, February 9.

Dry goods, cottons and light fancy woolens are steady in prices, but no general trade or animation.

Washington, February 9.

House—The Reconstruction bill was considered. Banks spoke in opposition.

Ashley called up the veto of the Nebraska bill, which was read, and the bill passed over the veto by 120 to 44, and proclaimed a law by the Speaker.

The House resumed the consideration of the Reconstruction bill. Raymond suggested its reference to a [illegible] but the proposition was not made formally and will cease to nothing. Niblack spoke against the bill.

A STEAMBOAT TO BE PROPELLED WITHOUT AN ENGINE.—J. Marquis, an architect of this city, has submitted for our inspection the model of a steamboat to be propelled without an engine. The idea is founded on the supposition that the English steamer Waterwitch, which is propelled by the forcible ejection of water against the water in which the vessel floats, has proved a success. Mr. Marquis proposes, instead of forcibly ejecting the water with an engine, as is done in the Waterwitch, to raise it to a height of 30 feet or less by means of a steam siphon, and the discharge or fall of the water will produce a motive power. According to his calculation, the fall of 300 tons of water per minute, from a height of 8 feet, will be equal to 160 horse power, a power equal to that obtained by the Waterwitch, with a rotary pump driven by three steam cylinders. The construction of the affair is very simple, the machinery consisting only of a large siphon with an inlet through the bottom of the boat, and outlets at the sides, or where the paddle wheels are usually placed. A jet of steam in the upper part of the siphon causes a vacuum upon which the water rushes up and is expelled with great velocity through the outlets at the side. If a boat can be propelled by forcing water against water, and the steam siphon will accomplish all that is claimed for it, the idea of Mr. Marquis is certainly plausible and worthy of investigation and experiment. Of course the result of experimental trials with a working model, the inventor has deemed it expedient to apply for a patent for the principle.—San Francisco Bulletin.

FROM THE WEST.

San Francisco, February 4.

The Panama Chronicle January 11th, states that the yellow fever had reached that place [illegible] the same journal of the 16th [illegible] congratulates the public [illegible] in Panama, [illegible] city is in its usual health. On the [illegible] of January the small-pox was at Aspinwall, and on the 10th there were three deaths from yellow fever in Panama.

The Herald refers to the existence of cholera in Nicaragua, but not in exaggerated terms, [illegible] led to [illegible] the accounts previously published. It was not considered epidemic. Dr. Marcus L. Hine, of San Jose, Costa Rica, died at his residence January 28th. He was for many years United States Consul in that Republic. Congress had been summoned to an extraordinary session, to meet on the 8th inst., for the purpose of celebrating an inter-oceanic railroad contract.

Pennsylvania Engine Company, one of the pioneer companies of this city, just before its disbandment, presented to the Society of California Pioneers a pair of massive silver torches, exquisitely chased, and supported by handles cut from the time-honored "Penn Tree," under the boughs of which was penned the famous treaty with the red men of the forest.

David Mendel was brought down from Marysville last evening, by detective Watkins, and lodged in the calaboose, on the charge of forgery. Mendel belongs to the Marine Corps, and the forgery, if any, consists in signing the name of another party to a check on the Hibernia Savings Bank, to the amount of $100.

Rev. James Eels, D. D., arrived by the Golden Age on Saturday, and will at once assume his new position as pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of this city. For several years he has filled the pulpit of the late Dr. Bethune, of Brooklyn, New York.

Eliza Heral was arrested last evening on the charge of assault with a deadly weapon, preferred by her husband, Michael Heral. The husband was locked up to secure his presence as a witness.

GONE EAST.—The Alta California thus mentions the departure of old Californians who left for the East by the steamer of January 30th:

Dr. Lewis A. Sayre, an eminent surgeon, of New York, who crossed the plains last fall with Ben. Holladay, and who has been sojourning on the Pacific slope for a few months, goes back to his family and old friends on the Atlantic side by the steamer to-day. Since his advent here, the medical profession have with unanimity received the doctor most kindly, and he regrets to leave a land he is so favorably impressed with and the many warm friends he has made.

By the last steamer, H. S. Babcock, Esq., an old resident of San Francisco, went East in the pursuit of health by travel, and will probably remain away a year or more in visiting the Paris Exposition and looking over Europe.

Thomas Maguire, the theatrical manager par excellence of the Pacific States, leaves for the East to-day, on professional business. Public patronage has flowed in upon him in a steady, unbroken golden stream of late, and he proposes to make such arrangements as will merit and secure a continuation of the smiles of fortune.

Captain Ned Poole, who for over sixteen years has had command of boats on the Sacramento river, belonging to the California Steam Navigation Company, leaves for the East to-day. During this period, Captain Poole has commanded the Antelope, Confidence, New World, Capital, and other steamers, the names of which do not now occur to us. Captain Poole throughout this long period has enjoyed the fullest confidence of his employers, and to-day has no peer as a scientific and thorough seaman.

Among the passengers for the eastern States, by the steamer Constitution, is J. P. Goodwin, the pioneer furniture dealer of San Francisco, whose establishment is the most extensive on the Pacific Coast, and one of the largest in the United States. He leaves us for a brief time, and with a view to still further increasing his business facilities.

FROM BRITISH AMERICA.—The following dispatches are from the San Francisco Call of January 31st:

Victoria, (V. I.), January 23.

Very severe storms have prevailed in this section of the country for the last ten days, causing considerable damage, and interfering with the sailing of the different steamers. The steamer Fideliter, which left here a week ago for Portland, returned to this port on Saturday last, not being able to reach her destination on account of the storm. She will leave again to-morrow.

Seattle, January 21.

For the last week we have had continuous gales, with rain and snow. It has caused no damage, except quite general disarrangement of the telegraph line during the time. Repairs have been made and communication restored to-day.

A young man, named Jack Paine, engaged in repairing the telegraph between Sehome and New Westminster, was drowned on Thursday last, in crossing a slough. His faithful dog carried the alarm to a house, a mile distant, which led to the discovery of the unfortunate man's fate. His body was recovered.

Seattle, January 30.

After ten days of stormy weather, it has cleared up pleasant. The rain and melting snow on the Cascade Mountains have caused freshets in all the rivers entering Puget Sound. Much damage will result. The destruction of the bridge across the Puyallup river, and the ferry-boat on the Swamish, are the most serious casualties now reported.

THE Sioux City Register gives the particulars of a horrible murder committed by a returning miner from Montana. A party of ten miners purchased a boat at Benton and started down the river. Some time during the night one of the number, while all the others were asleep, took an axe, and with one blow instantly killed one of his companions. He then struck another man, inflicting a fearful wound in the shoulder, nearly severing the arm from the body. The outcry of the wounded man awoke the balance of the party, who, thinking, in the confusion of the moment, that they had been attacked by Indians, hastily assisted the injured man into the boat and pushed off from shore, leaving the murderer and the dead man upon the sand bar. As the party retreated the murderer fired one shot after them from a rifle which was left on the shore. His object was to secure the gold which was in possession of the party.

RAPID TRAVELING.—As an instance of rapid locomotion, the editor of the Kansas State Journal notices his trip from Lawrence, Kansas, to Detroit, in forty-six hours. The better portion of four great States and eight hundred miles traveled in less than two days. The route taken was the Kansas branch of the Union Pacific, the Missouri Pacific, the Chicago and St. Louis, and the Michigan Southern Railroads.

"Well, why didn't ld Sacramento in the mountains?" in- he little one. "God didn't have any- do with building Sacramento," re- father. "Didn't he? And is that n that rain always washes it away?" er was too difficult a question to an- d the conversation was suddenly a railway carriage on each line in ter, calipered the journals and brasses, and used only sperm on nd only petroleum on the other of iage. After running the carriage s, all the axles and brasses were good order, with equal wear all twenty per cent. less oil had been the petroleum cask. This oil, of quality, fully equal to pure sperm least, and probably better for car- , can be bought for fifty cents per sperm oil is worth two dollars and cents.

…MAN, OR "PURIM."—The Hebrews of are preparing to celebrate the hang- man, the old fellow that is talked of criptures as being elevated by the cubits above terra firma. On March next, the rejoicing will be man wanted to hang the Jews hung him, hence the jollity from to this among the Israelites. "Hang Haman" is a common aphorism in terature; but many worse than Ha- ung.—Stockton Independent.

CHICAGO [illegible] mile faster than [illegible] more cases of crim. [illegible] women [illegible] the Chicago Journal [illegible] to two- thirty nags and relative luxuries. More di- vorces are granted in Chicago, with less diffi- culty, than in any other part of the country. [illegible] large field for the missionaries of the Young Men's Christian Association in that city. The new supply of water by the lake tunnel may help to purify the place. Water, however, in Chicago was never considered much of a lux- ury.—Gold Hill News.

SILVER ORE IN SHASTA COUNTY.—The Red Bluff Independent of the 30th ult. says: Col- onel Hawkins, who has just returned from the South Fork mines, showed us some specimens of silver ore from the Chicago mine, that sur- passes anything we saw during a five month's residence at Virginia City. But as the mine is in California, nobody notices it. If it was a hundred miles the other side of Salt Lake, ten thousand people would rush there to- morrow.

DEATH OF AN EDITOR.—Edward Burnside, editor of the Delaware county (Wis.) Union, died at Manchester, in that State, December 25th. He was born in Maryland, Otsego county, (N. Y.,) December 14, 1826. Some years of his life were spent in California, and while there he assisted in editing several pa- pers. He edited the Marengo Journal for sev- eral years. Since March, 1864, he has edited the Delaware county Union, which he founded, and conducted successfully from the com- mencement.

A WELL executed five dollar counterfeit greenback has just made its appearance. It is one of the best yet put in circulation, and is dated March 10, 1862. In the counterfeit the large figure five in the center touches the shading of the "United States," while in the genuine it does not. This is the only dis- crepancy by which the spurious note can be detected.—Atchison Champion.

A BOSTON JEW.—Simon S. Barry, a Boston Jew, was acquitted in the Superior Court, lately, on an indictment for violation of the Sunday law, on the ground that persons ob- serving the seventh day of the week as the Sabbath were not liable to the penalties of the statute, if they disturbed no other person in their labor on the Sabbath.

THE "South American" is said to be the richest silver lode in Colorado, assaying from $240 to $2,000 per ton. Colonel F. R. Ford, a former resident of Leavenworth is now East for the purpose of raising capital to work this rich deposit of argentiferous ore.—Atchison Champion.

THE Iowa division of the Chicago & North- western Railroad was completed to Council Bluffs on the 22d, thus finishing the link be- tween the seaboard and the North Platte, 300 miles west of the Missouri River.—Atchison Champion, 25th ult.

[illegible] probably no [illegible] enjoy them [illegible] brotherhood. One of the profession, a man of brilliant parts, relates the following, as having occurred in the Court room of Judge [illegible] attorney was questioning a juror, touching his qualifications. Question—Are you interested in this suit? Answer—No, sir. Q.—Have you any litigation in the Courts of this country? A.—Yes, sir; I have been sued several times. Q.—Well, sir; now, on your oath, who acts [illegible]? [illegible]—Well, sir, no one in particular, as I knows of, except the Judge there. He was excused from serving. Here is another: Day before yesterday, in the District Court, Judge Rising presiding, the name of Mr. O. was called, in the dulcet tones of Marple, as a juror. O. arose, came forward, and, appealing, addressed the Court as follows: "Now, your Honor, I have business that I must attend to; I have no interest in this case; don't know either of the parties, dont care anything about them, and I wish you to excuse me." The Court (sotto voce) —"A rara avis!" Counsel—"We pass the juror." It is unnecessary to add that Mr. O. served on that jury. Still another: Depositions were being taken before a certain magistrate of this country, not long since, the Court writing the questions and the attorney the answers. Judge L., we will say, a man of great erudition and precise habits, was looking over the shoulder of His Honor, reading the caption of the deposition, when the first interrogation was made, to be written by the Judge. Question—"Do you know Mr. K., who lives in Sacramento?" The Court began: "Do you no—." "K," whispered the learned Judge, over the Courts shoulder—"kn." The Court, who is as ignorant as a horse and as conceited as a peacock, turned full upon the gentleman who had presumed to correct his spelling, and, in a voice choked with rage, replied: "Sir; this Court can spell, I reckon. Sometimes I spell the word 'no,' and sometimes 'kno.' I suppose either is correct." Judge L. had no more remarks to make.

A Fair Exchange.—A gentleman at Paris amusing himself in the gallery of the Palais Royal, observed, while he was carelessly looking over some pamphlets at a bookseller's shop, a suspicious fellow stand rather too near him. The gentleman was dressed according to the times, in a coat with a prodigious number of silver tags and tassels, upon which the thief began to have a design; and the gentleman, not willing to disappoint him, turned his head another way to give him an opportunity. The thief immediately set to work, and, in a trice, twisted off seven or eight of the silver tags. The gentleman perceived it; and drawing out a pen-knife, caught the fellow by the ear and cut it off close to his head.

"Murder! Murder!" cried the thief.

"Robbery! Robbery!" cried the gentleman.

Upon this the thief, in a passion, throwing them at the gentleman, roared:

"There are your tags and buttons!"

"Very well," says the gentleman, throwing it back in the like manner, "there is your ear."

High-toned.—The New Yorkers are figuring on a new State Capitol, which is to cost not less than $10,000,000. This will be the most costly building in the United States, the Capitol at Washington excepted.

A Palmer, Mass., man, who recently recovered $1,125 in a lawsuit, had to hand over $900 of it to his counsel for fees.

That "beautiful American widow in London" denies that she is going to marry the Duke of Rutland.
